Ferguson Holds Up Turnpike Pay Faces Court Action By Highway Director

COLUMBUS, July 15—(AP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today faces contempt of court action for holding up Ohio turnpike survey payments.

Highway Director T. J. Kauer, ex-officio member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, said he will ask the attorney general to sue Ferguson for contempt if the auditor continues his stand.

The state supreme court recently approved the loan of state highway funds for turnpike surveys over Ferguson's objections. But Ferguson said he'll decide next week whether to honor two $2,500 vouchers for first survey payments and salary checks for two highway employees doing turnpike work.

Kauer told the commission yesterday that Ferguson's action threatens the entire turnpike program, now well ahead of schedule. Commission members joined the criticism.

"The state auditor still is not recognizing the validity of the supreme court in approving use of highway department funds," said Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy of Columbus.

Commissioner J. Gordon McKay of Cleveland said:

"There must be something pretty deep beyond this, I'd like to know what the goes on. I'm tired of this pettifoggery."

Two engineering firms reported they expected to reach agreement next week on a mile-wide band across northern Ohio for the turnpike. The exact route will be pinpointed within that band later. The turnpike would be a four-lane toll super-highway running between the Indiana border and a juncture with extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike, south of Youngstown.

Servicemen Need Not Worry About Rights

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Servicemen still are protected against arbitrary mortgage foreclosures, evictions, garnishment of pay and other civil court actions.

A spokesman for the Veterans Administration told a reporter today the agency is getting hundreds of calls from worried men and women now in military service.

"The Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act of 1940 is in full force," he said. "Sections of the act nullified by the July 25, 1947, proclamation of termination of the war were reinstated by the draft act of 1948. In the draft act of 1950 they were extended to July 9, 1951."

The act applies to all members of the Army, Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard, and to all Public Health Service officers detailed with the Army or Navy.

It applies to all who are on active duty with any branch, as well as to those taking training or education under the supervision of the United States, preliminary to induction into military service.

No Mo' Mowing Unless Thief Returns Mower

This could only happen in the summertime.

John Gilbert of 1009 E. Sixth st mowed his lawn Friday and parked his power driven mower at the rear of his home, apparently too tired to put it away. Today, the grass cutter, valued at $139 and weighing between 75 and 100 pounds, was gone.

Mr. Gilbert told police the yellow and green Reo model was stolen between 10 p. m. Friday and 6 a. m. today.

Car-Truck Crash Kills Six Persons

3 Children Dead In Highway Mishap

MANSFIELD, July 15—(AP)—Six persons, including three children, died today in a car-truck crash two miles south of Lexington in Richland County.

The car in which the six died bore a Cleveland license plate, the state highway patrol said.

Names of the dead were not disclosed immediately, pending a patrol check.

A woman, presumably the mother of the three children, was thrown through the automobile windshield and her body was found a few feet from the overturned machine. She was decapitated.

Five other charred bodies were found inside the auto.

The driver of the truck-trailer, Graydon Hinshaw, 42, Avon Lake O., received minor scalp lacerations and leg abrasions. He was treated and released at Mansfield General Hospital.

Cause of the crash was not known. The collision occurred on a straight stretch of road and not on a narrow bridge as first reported. Patrolmen said the car apparently was traveling down the middle of the highway.

At the impact, the car dove into a ditch and overturned. Patrolmen said apparently the machine's gasoline tank exploded. The car burned for nearly an hour.

The trailer was torn loose from its tractor. It overturned. The tractor did not overturn and the truck did not burn.

Demoted Bomber Flew 400 Hours In War II

TUCSON, Ariz., July 15—(AP)—Most B-29 Superforts look the same when cocooned with a plastic covering. Davis-Monthan air force officials found to their embarrassment.

The base removed the first bomber from storage, announcing that it was the "Lucky 13."

The plane was pulled to the Grand Central Aircraft Co. plant seven and a half miles away.

But when workmen started to de-cocoon the plane they found it wasn't the "Lucky 13." It was the "Gene-Margie."

The "Gene-Margie" had 400 hours of combat flying to its credit in World War II.

Three Injured In Road Mishaps

2 Accidents Occur On Route 14 Friday

Three people were injured in two highway accidents Friday on Route 14 north of Salem, the state highway patrol reported.

Frank Hayes, Jr., 29, of Detroit was brought to City Hospital following an accident at midnight a mile south of Deerfield. He suffered multiple head lacerations when he attempted to avoid a car which pulled onto the road in front of him. He swung into a ditch and hit a culvert.

Patrolmen said the front end and right side of Hayes car was badly damaged.

A woman and her husband were injured in an accident at 9:40 Friday near North Benton. Cloyd Kirkhart, 48, of R. D. 2, Cuyahoga Falls, failed to stop his car behind the truck driven by Paul R. Kirkbride, 22, of R. D. 1, Berlin Center, as Kirkbride slowed to make a right turn.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Bessie Kirkhart, 48, wife of the driver, was admitted to Robinson Memorial Hospital in Ravenna with lacerations and bruises of the head and lacerations of the arm. Her husband suffered lacerations of the legs. Kirkbride was uninjured.

The front of the Kirkhart car was demolished and the rear end of the truck was slightly damaged.

Security Problems Studied By Congress

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Congress eyed internal and military security problems today in the light of the Korean fighting.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, called for voluntary, but complete, censorship on troop movements at home and abroad.

He suggested in an interview that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be authorized by the president to clamp military censorship on front line developments vitally affecting American tactical and strategic moves.

Lucas told the senate Friday that it was "almost criminal" the way reports are going out on "where our troops are going and how."

The question of security at home also raised concern on Capitol Hill.

Two Democratic senators—Eastland of Mississippi and Maybank of South Carolina—joined Republicans in an effort to force senate action on a bill requiring registration of Communist party members.

Truman To Act Soon On Degree Of Mobilization

Awaits Report From Generals Returning From Far East

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The chiefs of staff of the Army and Air Force flew from Korea today with the word that "our troops are doing damn well there, and everything will come out all right."

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief, stepped off the plane with Gen. Hoyt T. Vandenberg, Air Force chief, at the military airport, after a four and a half day flying trip to Japan and the Korean battlefield.

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—President Truman is expected to decide soon to what degree American resources must be mobilized to deal with the Korean crisis.

Decisions respecting future military strength will be speeded by the return today from the Far East of Generals J. Lawton Collins and Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Army and Air Force chiefs of staff.

They conferred with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the United Nations commander in Korea, and are presumably bringing his latest estimates of what the situation requires.

To Report Immediately
Collins and Vandenberg were expected to report immediately to Secretary of Defense Johnson and Mr. Truman. Recommendations from the Pentagon to the White House on calling up some national guard and organized reserve units may follow shortly.

Meanwhile the State Department is urging the White House to move quickly on marshalling more of the nation's industrial resources—both to bolster the Korean campaign for the long pull and to strengthen America's total military power against the possibility of other crises.

The Defense Department is reported planning a greatly expanded military program to accomplish the same purposes. Evidence that action along these lines may be forthcoming promptly came from two members of congress.

Senator Robertson (D-Va) told the senate Friday the administration may ask for an additional $6,000,000,000, partly to finance operations in Korea and partly to reinforce the country's military might generally. While some administration circles said the request won't run that high, the figure was expected to be fairly substantial.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) told reporters he had been assured by administration officials that some national guard men and some reservists will be called into the armed forces soon.

Among administration leaders the expectation now is that Mr.

Canadian Set To Dare Niagara Falls In Barrel

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 15—(AP)—Maj. Lloyd Hill made his last preparations today for a plunge over Niagara Falls in an 11-foot-long steel barrel.

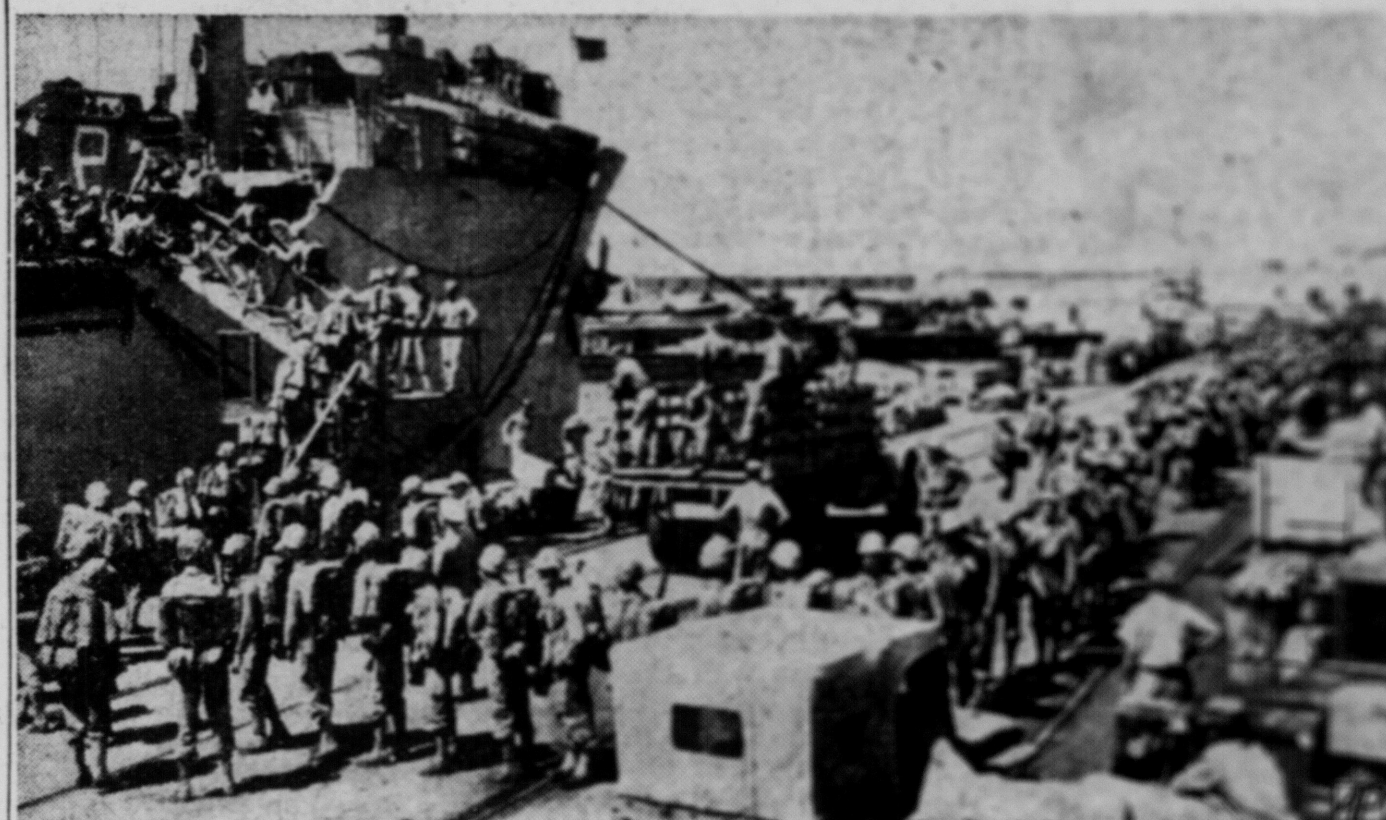

The 32-year-old Canadian veteran of World War II plans to shove off from an undisclosed point above the Canadian, or Horseshoe, falls shortly after 1 p. m. (EST), tomorrow.

If he does, he will be going against the advice of Jean Lussier of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who made the trip in 1928 in a huge rubber ball.

Lussier took one look at Hill's barrel and remarked:

"I wouldn't try it in that for $50,000."

Five persons have taken the plunge over the Horseshoe falls. Two besides Lussier lived to tell about it.

Water Program Borne By Users

Per Capita Cost Of Project Is $337

If each of the estimated 4,000 customers were to pay an equal share for the $1,350,000 water supply and expansion program, it would cost him roughly $337.50.

Under the present rate increase, each customer is assessed more proportionately according to consumption. Thus, the domestic and industrial consumers using more water will be paying more, with the industrial rate increase set at a higher scale.

The rate of increase for domestic consumers with the standard 1/2-inch size meter follows:

Old Rate Schedule
First 500 cu. ft., $2.78
Next 5500 cu. ft., .35 per 100
Next 44,000 cu. ft., .20 per 100
Over 50,000 cu. ft., .10 per 100

Present Rates
First 500 cu. ft., $4.00
Next 5,500 cu. ft., .45 per 100
Next 44,000 cu. ft., .23 per 100
Next 450,000 cu. ft., .14 per 100

Seaside Resort Hit By $500,000 Blaze

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., July 15—(AP)—A $500,000 flash fire roared through 18 buildings in the heart of this popular New Hampshire seaside resort last night.

It razed an entire wooden block, destroying one hotel, four restaurants, a penny arcade and several rooming houses and other business establishments. Another hotel was damaged.

No one was injured seriously. The 300 feet of ocean front property was burned in little more than an hour and a half. The blaze was checked before it reached the casino, a huge dance hall.

The blaze apparently started in a small photo shop or restaurant stand in the rear of the totally destroyed Dudley hotel.

Bike Registration Awaits Tags, Papers

Registration of every bicycle in Salem will begin as soon as the tags and papers arrive, Mayor Harry M. Vincent said today.

"The licenses are long overdue," the mayor added, "for the order for the 500 tags was made a few weeks ago with promise of one-week delivery."

An ordinance was passed last month requiring every bike with in the city to be registered at 40 cents, plus 10 cents for the registrar. All tags will contain 3 digit numbers, ranging from 100 to 600.

Each bike owner will be required to register within 10 days after the tags go on sale at the water department office. Judicial authority under the ordinance is placed in Police Chief Nerr Gaunt.

Pleasant Weather Is Weekend Forecast

Pleasant weather — maybe a little warm in some areas—was in prospect for the nation over the weekend.

The cool air that brought relief to the midwest after several days of hot and humid weather moved into the eastern states Friday. At the same time, temperatures were a little higher over the central part of the country.

The mercury yesterday climbed to 97 at Phillips, S. D., 95 at Chadron, Neb., and 92 at Bismarck, N. D. But readings were lower over other midwest areas. The nation's top mark was 116 at Silver Lake, Calif.

Skies generally were clear today.

New Home Nursing Service Begins Here

Salem has a new home nursing service. It has been incorporated with Attorney South Metzger, president of the directors. Albert Hanna is vice president and Mrs. George Emery and O. A. Naragon are secretary and treasurer, respectively. Others on the board are R. S. McCulloch, Jr., Miss Mary Bunn and Mrs. George Kyle.

This replaces the nursing service offered through the Red Cross chapter, which was discontinued July 1.

Miss Hazel Linn, executive secretary of the chapter, explains that the national organization has discontinued its nursing service all over the country. While the Red Cross pioneered in the public nursing field, its officials are now giving this work to community public health units. Thus the need for a local service was created.

Mrs. Augusta Ibele, Red Cross nurse for seven years, has been retained by the new service.

There will be no change in her work, which heretofore has been home nursing, bedside care, etc., nor any interruption in its scope, which includes service to the Rotary Club's crippled children's project.

A small fee will be charged, but to patients unable to pay the care will be free. Mrs. Ibele will work out of the Red Cross office. The chapter also will assist her with medical supplies.

UN Aid Offers Awaited By U. S.

Trygve Lie Calls For All-Out Fighting Aid

LAKE SUCCESS, July 15—America and the rest of the United Nations watched anxiously today for replies from 52 U. N. members to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's call for all-out fighting aid to stem the Red invasion of South Korea.

Lie expressed his concern over the U. N. situation in Korea at a press conference yesterday. He made it clear he expects every one of the U. N. members except the dissenting Soviet bloc and Communist Yugoslavia to help turn back the North Korean Reds and restore peace in that divided land.

Lie does not expect troops from every one of the 52 countries. Costa Rica, for instance was not asked because, one U. N. official said, the country's constitution forbids an army. However, they all are expected to chip in some supplies and other evidence of aid.

India, whose delegate recently told newsmen that India could not send troops to Korea, was among those asked directly for soldiers.

Arab countries also were asked for help, although observers here differed as to the extent of their support of the security council resolution calling for all measures to stop the fighting. Egypt abstained on the resolution but Lie told reporters he knows Egypt is backing it now.

In addition to calling for help from the members, the U. N. has some material resources of its own to throw into the struggle, but few men.

U. N. officials have said they hope to wage this "police action" (they still do not call it a war) as nearly within the current budget as possible. The general assembly last year approved a budget of $49,641,773 for this year.

U. S. Plans Military Aid To Iranian Army

TEHRAN, Iran, July 15—(AP)—Premier Gen. Ali Razmara said yesterday the United States has agreed to equip Iran's army for defensive mountain fighting.

The equipment, he said, will include infantry arms, light mountain artillery and other material. It will be worth from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 and will start arriving in about a month.

At the same time Razmara appealed for American aid to make Iran's economy strong enough to support the army.

The premier said in an interview that the threat of an invasion from Russia, Iran's northern neighbor, was "a reality."

U. S. Troops In Taejon Sector Holding Firm

Fighting Heavy As North Koreans Try To Split Defenders

SEOUL, July 15—(AP)—An Army spokesman in Korea said tonight the American left flank had been pushed back from the center northwest of Taejon, but had been moved back generally west, somewhat from Taejon, U. S. emergency capital.

The advanced headquarters spokesman said the U. S. troops were holding firm at the center northwest of Taejon, but had been moved back generally west, somewhat from Taejon, U. S. emergency capital.

Northward, midway to Chongjin, 30 miles from Taejon, South Korean forces gave some ground.

Warrior Fire Heavy
The spokesman said no Red tanks had been seen south of the river. But several were seen on two north-south roads west of Taejon.

Some Red soldiers were seen advancing under heavy mortar fire. Associated Press correspondent William S. Moore at advanced headquarters said in a dispatch timed at 10:52 p. m. (7:52 a. m. EST).

Moore said the Red self-propelled 76 millimeter guns were believed to have been brought into use.

Earlier Moore had reported from Korea the Americans had stabilized their positions over the Kam river without getting hit by the Communist mortar in the day.

Four Red tanks were destroyed attempting heavy crossings of the river. As far as was known, no tanks had crossed the shallow river.

The Communists apparently were trying to drive a wedge between the American right flank and south Korean troops defending a sector 10 miles south of Chongjin.

Heavy fighting raged in that sector.

Established Bridgehead
Moore said there was relatively little fighting during the day around the Sangju bridgehead seized by the Reds. Some of them waited the shallow river to reach the south side, where they held on tenaciously.

The Red bridgehead was established by large forces of infantry troops carrying considerable equipment and covering an extensive area.

Some estimates, Moore said, were that between 1,000 and 2,000 Red soldiers made the initial crossing.

They apparently spread rapidly over an extensive area.

There was little positive information on the situation in the center of the Kam river line. But evidently American forces there were holding.

Small arms in the hands of U. S. soldiers repelled three attempted crossings by Communists in boats. An attempted crossing Friday which the Americans smashed was made by about a company of Red soldiers trying to walk across the same of a narrow bridge.

The Reds had heavily in strong artillery and small arms units. MacArthur called the Communist bridgehead a setback for the United Nations defense. But he added there "was no cause for alarm."

Driver Meets For Light; Is Strapped To Death

AKRON, July 15—(AP)—An Llewellyn R. McCurdy, 30, killed his car for a traffic light yesterday, a man leaped into his car and strangled him with a thick broad knife. McCurdy, his popular wife, died quickly.

Police held Clarence Covey, 30, today, booked on suspicion of insanity. Detective Captain John F. Strozinski said "as far as we can discover, the two men never saw each other until the fatal moment."

Confident Living

By DR. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Magic Formula Of This Life

ONE DAY, not long ago, I had the pleasure of visiting a modern and well-equipped scientific laboratory where very advanced investigations and experiments were being conducted. I was a little out of my depth but, trying to appear intelligent, I said to the department head who was acting as my guide, "Doctor, you must have performed some very interesting and thrilling experiments in these laboratories."

"Yes," he replied, "we are always conscious that there are unknown powers all about us and we are attempting to explore new areas of knowledge."

He hesitated for a moment and then continued, "I performed an experiment here two months ago for which I needed none of this expensive equipment. Personally, I consider it my most important experiment. You see, I was a defeated person. I didn't think anyone knew it except my wife, but I was filled with fear. I was making moral compromises. I was unhappy and without control. I did my work without any sense of power or achievement."

"That's not an uncommon experience," I said, "What did you do about it?"

"Well," he continued, "we had on our staff here a young scientist who was keen-minded and brilliant. Everyone in the place loved him. Wherever he went, there was harmony and peace. His face was always serene. If he failed in an experiment, he never appeared frustrated. He simply began all over again."

My guide went on to say that he questioned this young scientist as to the secret of his contentment and the man had told him, "I have discovered a magic formula for living that has revolutionized my life, giving me happiness and peace. Of course, I don't believe in magic; but this isn't magic in the ordinary sense, it is so amazing, so incredible, so utterly inconceivable that I find myself applying to it a word that lifts it into another category. I call it 'the magic formula for living.' And all it is is the simple day-to-day practice of my religious faith."

His senior took these words to heart and the experiment which he told me about was the testing of these words of the young scientist and finding them to be true. On the young man's "magic formula" he had reconstructed his own life.

HOW MANY PEOPLE reading these words right now are fighting battles with themselves against frustration, disappointment, unhappiness, fear and sensuality? Many of us are fighting against the vicissitudes and circumstances of life. It is going on all about us: quiet battles on the outside; raging battles on the inside. But I can say to you that there is available a power by which you can win a victory over yourself and over your circumstances and, when you try it, you too will say that it is a "magic formula."

I have written before about my good friend, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, because I know him so well and admire him so much. He knows the power of this formula. He tells the story of an automobile race at the famous Indianapolis Speedway in 1915. All the contestants had been eliminated but Eddie and one other. His opponent's car was faster on the straightaways, but Eddie's was faster on the curves.

Then all of a sudden, Rickenbacker began to hear snaps and booms; the spokes of his wheels were breaking one by one. He did not know how many he had left but every time he heard another snapping noise he knew he had lost another. They tried to flag him down and stop him but he was in that race to win. At 125 miles an hour going round a turn, a wheel flew off veering him toward some stone pillars. The next moment, another wheel came off, turning him in the other direction. When the car stopped, he was still safe at the wheel.

"Although I lost the race," he says, "I discovered a greater truth in those tumultuous moments. I had the power of faith in my mind, not in my hands, by which I could bring that car in no matter what happened to it."

THIS IS NO PREACHER I am

quoting. This is a rough and ready American whose philosophy is that Almighty God will watch over you and help you as long as you find a job to do, and that you can receive tremendous help from God if you ask for it fully realizing that it is a two-way proposition.

Many people have discovered the magic formula. If you want to state it for yourself, simply say, "I believe it." Then, if something inside says, "No, you can't," turn on it and reply, "You go back down where you belong. You have controlled me too long. I DO believe it."

Then turn to God and say, "This is my deep desire, but I cannot do it without YOU." If you do this sincerely, a voice will come to you saying, "Never fear, in the name of God, you can do it."

That, for you, and for me, and for all of us, is the magic formula of this life.

Truman Bows Head As Evangelist Prays

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—President Truman and the evangelist, Billy Graham, of North Carolina, stood in the President's office Friday and prayed for divine guidance for the nation and its chief executive.

The tall, young evangelist told reporters about it after a half-hour's visit at the White House. He said he had proposed that Mr. Truman call a nationwide day of prayer and humiliation.

The evangelist and three of his associates, he said, stood in Mr. Truman's office and, at Graham's suggestion, prayed.

"I prayed aloud, and the President just prayed to the Lord, and asked God to give him wisdom."

EVANGELIST BOWED HIS HEAD AS HE PRAYED, AND THE PRESIDENT STOOD WITH HIS HEAD BOWED, TOO. TRUMAN CALLED A NATIONWIDE DAY OF PRAYER AND HUMILIATION.

Truman's office and, at Graham's suggestion, prayed. "I prayed aloud, and the President just prayed to the Lord, and asked God to give him wisdom."

Rains Retard Wheat Harvest

District Farmers Delay Cutting Crop

WET WEATHER may hold up the harvesting of wheat in this district, Galen Greenisen, Salem farmer, reported today.

Some farmers started cutting their crop Wednesday, but no threshing has been done yet. "Very little wheat cut will be threshed; most of it will be combined," Greenisen said.

Greenisen went on to say he expects to combine his own crop in two weeks. The reason for not doing so before, he added, was due to the rains that have been hitting this area, affecting the moisture content of the wheat.

The wheat yield is not expected to be as good as some other years. Snow, which usually lays a protective blanket over the planted wheat, was conspicuously absent, probably hurting this season's yield, the Salem farmer said.

Greenisen opined that harvesting in this district is from 10 to 14 days behind schedule. It is usually completed by the Fourth of July.

THERE WILL BE less corn, wheat and oats available for harvest this year in Ohio than in 1949, but more soybeans and hay, the Federal Crop Reporting Service reported today.

Corn acreage dropped seven percent, wheat 11 percent and oats 15 percent. Soybeans showed a 14 percent increase and hay crops were nine percent larger.

Minor crops generally showed increased acreages. Barley crops were more than double the 1949 acreage and rye was more than three times greater. Burley tobacco, however, decreased seven percent while cigar leaf tobacco increased 12 percent.

Sugar beets were up eight percent and there are three percent more potatoes available this year. Popcorn acreage was reported as one fourth larger than 1949.

The Service estimated that harvest for all reported crops would be two percent less than last year's. The report explained that crops got off to a slow start this season due principally to cool weather. Parts of the states also were rather dry until late in May.

Wheat is later than usual this year and harvest is just getting a good start at present. The prospective yield of the wheat crop indicated that this year's harvest would produce 20 percent less than 1949's record crop of 60,002,000 bushels.

A NEW VACCINE tested in Michigan for controlling Bang's disease in cattle may mean a new era for dairy farmers.

The new cure, called Brucella M, has been enthusiastically received by Michigan farmers and veterinarians, having accomplished fine results in treating herds in that state. Developed by Dr. I. F. Huddleson of Michigan State College, the vaccine, not yet licensed for interstate sale, looked good in a survey in which 5,000 cattle in 428 herds were tested.

Reduction in Bang's disease and reactors and suspects in the vaccinated group was around 100 percent greater. Advantages of the vaccine as expressed by farmers and veterinarians who have used it in every situation are:

1. Vaccination program need not be limited to calves. Farmers report the vaccination of cows in all stages of pregnancy with no abortions.
2. Blood reaction returns to normal soon after vaccination.
3. Vaccination does not cause a sharp drop in milk production.
4. Neither calves nor mature stock go off feed following vaccination.
5. Rapid immunity.

Curiosity Of Koreans Troublesome To GIs

ADVANCED AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS, July 15—(AP)—Curiosity may be killing some South Koreans.

Confirmed reports say some Korean Communists have donned the traditional Korean white robes to infiltrate American lines. They then whipped out rifles from under their robes and fired at surprised doughboys.

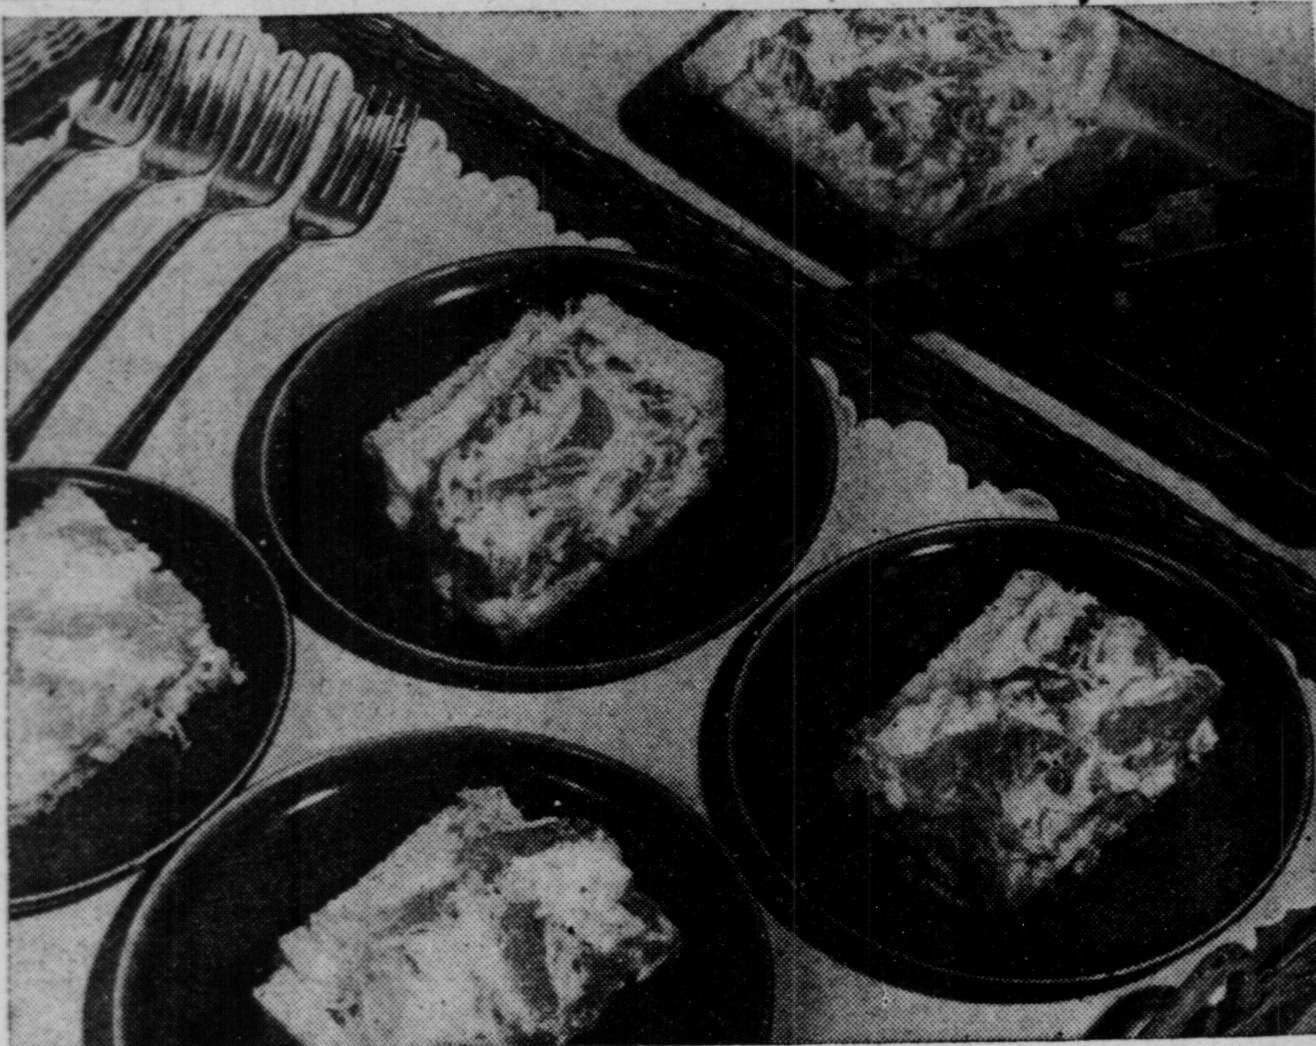

So now the Americans often ride when they see little white figures moving along mountain Korean curiosity is great, it is likely that many of the white clad persons are farmers or refugees just taking a look.

But soldiers who have been shot at may not have time to investigate before they shoot.

Abolition Of Electoral College Not Probable

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college apparently is headed for the legislative scrap pile.

It will come up for a vote in the House next Monday and even some of its most ardent backers fear that it can't get the two-thirds vote needed for approval.

ICEBOX CAKE, a Super Dessert

YOU will love this de luxe refrigerator dessert.

It is fine to look at and as for taste—you can judge for yourself when you learn that this is really a dressed up, company version of ambrosia, that ever popular flavor combination of juicy, ripe oranges and tender shredded coconut.

It's simple to make and a winner for dessert time popularity.

AMBROSIA ICEBOX CAKE
2 cups orange sections, free from membrane
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup shredded coconut sponge cake
3/4 cup cream, whipped

Arrange layers of orange sections in bowl and sprinkle each layer with sugar and coconut. Chill 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, line a refrigerator tray with slices of sponge cake cut 1/4 inch thick. Drain juice from orange mixture and pour juice over cake.

Place tray in freezing compartment of refrigerator, set control for a low speed, and chill 4 hours. Cut in squares to serve six persons.

Wholesale Prices Show Sharp Climb

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The government today reported a sharp rise in wholesale prices due to the Korean crisis. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said average prices advanced 1.8 percent in the week ended July 11.

It added that the Korean "conflict had a marked effect" on most commodities.

The BLS index went to 161.8. That means 161.8 percent of the 1926 average. The index on July 4 was 159. On June 27—two days after the Korean war began, it was 157.1. A year ago, on July 12, 1949, it was 154.

The index peak was 170.3 on August 17, 1948.

Food prices during the week ending July 11 went up 4.1 percent, and meat prices 7.5 percent.

Wholesale price changes are usually reflected later in retail price changes.

TWO OHIOANS WOUNDED

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The Defense Department's 20th casualty report for the Korean War today listed: 1st Lt. Lucius L. Diamond, son of Thomas H. Diamond, Olmsted Falls, Ohio, and Pvt. John E. Easterling, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Young, Akron, as wounded.

As a symbol of the company's standing, a reproduction of the famous oil painting of Indian Chief Pontiac was presented to hang in the showroom.

Allies Ask Russia Tell About War Prisoners

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France have asked Russia to permit a check by "an impartial international body" on what has happened to thousands of German war prisoners "known to have been in Soviet custody."

The State Department announced the western powers had delivered notes to the Soviet foreign office in Moscow. The text of the American note was released here.

In it the United States virtually accused Russia of lying when it recently claimed it is still holding only 13,546 German war prisoners. The western powers have contended several hundred thousand German prisoners are unaccounted for.

Atomic Submarine Propulsion Planned

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) announced today that construction work will be started at Arco, Idaho, next month on a land based model for an atomic powered submarine engine.

McMahon, chairman of the senate-house atomic committee, predicted that a "tremendous improvement in submarine performance is in the offing."

The Arco prototype, or original from which other engines are to be copied, is one of two experimental projects for atomic ship propulsion on which the Atomic Energy Commission has been working since early 1947.

Picnic Transportation Completed In Leetonia

LEETONIA, July 15—Transportation schedules have been completed for the Sons of Italy family picnic Sunday at Toleron Lake, south of Salem. Buses will leave the clubrooms at 10:30, 11:30, and 1:30 for the picnic site. Return buses will leave the lake at 6:30 and 7:30.

Committeemen have planned day-long activities, including ball games, contests for adults and children, free refreshments, swimming, dancing and other events.

More than 500 members of the club, their families and friends are expected to attend. General chairmen of the affair are Pat Tortora, James Ciminelli and Dominic Mowery.

A device which works like a harmonica, vibrating metal strips in a path of rushing air, now is being used to test the strength of metals.

The device vibrates metal in strip or sheet form at its natural frequency, until the specimen fails. The number of vibrations needed to cause failure indicates the metal's strength.

COMING ATTRACTIONS: "Father Of The Bride," which stars Spencer Tracy, Joan Bennett and Elizabeth Taylor, will be at the State theater Sunday through Wednesday. The above scene is one from the picture which tells the hilarious and heart-warming story of a father's trials and tribulations when his daughter announces her impending marriage.

Larger Wheat Crop Planned For 1951

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP) The government—with an obvious eye on a possible broadening of the Korean War—today called for a larger wheat crop next year.

The agriculture Department set a 1951 production goal of 1,150,000,000 bushels, or 193,000,000 more than this year's indicated crop and 119,000,000 more than the 1939-48 average.

The agency said more wheat is needed to assure the nation a "safe" margin for food needs, for possible increases in exports, and for feed to produce more meat, milk and poultry.

Housefly's Takeoff Assisted By Jump

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—The common housefly apparently employs a kind of jump-assisted takeoff—with some fancy legwork preceding the first flutter of its wings.

This was reported by an army scientist who took some high speed movies (2400 pictures a second) of a fly suddenly disturbed in the process of a quiet walk.

Although it's little consolation to a man with a fly swatter, the fly actually does nothing at all for about 20 thousandths of a second after something happens to alarm him.

Then he appears to extend his rear legs in a springing motion before turning on the wing power. Dr. Carl M. Herget of the army chemical center at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, described the observation in Science, a technical journal.

JOBLESS CLAIMS RISE

COLUMBUS, July 15—(AP)—The number of claims for jobless benefits filed by newly unemployed persons jumped in Ohio for the second straight week, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today. Administrator Frank J. Collopy said the 11,187 such claims filed during the week ending July 8 was a hike of 2,066 over the preceding seven days.

City States

CENSUS RETURNS indicate at least a dozen additions to the group of U.S. cities with more than 100,000 population. The new total for this group will be at least 104.

Five cities have more than a million inhabitants. (New York alone has more inhabitants than the combined total of 11 of the least populated states—7,841,610, according to a preliminary estimate. Chicago has reached 3,631,835, for second place. Philadelphia is expected to go well over two million in the official count. Los Angeles is on the verge of a two-million total, with Detroit close on its heels. Baltimore, Cleveland and St. Louis are within striking distance of their first million; all have more than a million in their metropolitan areas, though not inside their municipal boundaries. Washington and Boston also are approaching a million.

Besides the largest cities—those with more than 100,000 persons inside their corporate limits and usually that many more just outside the limits—are all the hundreds of cities ranging upward from 10,000 inhabitants. City states like these are the backbone of U.S. wealth, enterprise and the nation's social and economic structure.

Yet, because of an archaic conception of government, America's cities are little more than overgrown orphans in a political sense. They are under-represented in legislatures and over-influential in machine politics. They are exploited mercilessly by those who know how to take advantage of them. In turn, they are a political menace to those who don't know how to control them.

The growth of urban populations is going to be the source of America's toughest problems in government for the next 50 years or so. Cities are continuing to grow. But there is no evidence of growth in the attitudes of state legislatures toward the problems of urban populations.

Deliver U. S. From Extremists

THE PRESENT policy of the Truman administration on adjusting the country to a shooting war with the army of a Communist-controlled government in Korea is to make no sudden moves.

The nearest approach to a drastic measure is invoking the standby draft law, but even that is not to go into action suddenly. The administration is apparently aiming to gather up the loose ends, with a view to gradual mobilization if circumstances justify it. It is not aiming to seize the excuse of an emergency to precipitate a greater emergency by jumping off the deep end.

This will not be popular with either group of extremists—the group which wants to swing over to a 100 percent wartime footing, or the group that would prefer to ignore what has happened in Korea and continue to do business as usual. Both groups will pull and haul at Mr. Truman and his advisers to make them succumb either to military hypertension or peacetime lassitude.

Both groups will be wrong. There is no excuse as yet to jump off the deep end. Nor is there any excuse for pretending that nothing has happened. It will be many years, barring a miracle, before anyone can believe again that all is serene. Sooner or later the United States and the world had to help reap the whirlwind that was sown at Yalta. The reaping has begun.

Not Neutrality

THE UNITED STATES, which was still bemused at the beginning of World War II by visions of neutrality, cannot be harsh about the neutrality of the Arab league nations in the Korean issue.

There can be, however, a legitimate doubt about their real motives.

All of them are either next-door or nearby neighbors of Iran, which is expected to be one of the forthcoming objectives of Russian imperialism. All of them share the hazard of being situated in a part of the world which would be overrun quickly in the event of military friction over Iran.

None of them is capable of defending itself. All of them are wholly dependent on outside interests for their economic vigor. Even the vast petroleum resources which have made them newly important in an economic sense are of no value to them unless some foreign nation exploits them.

Their neutrality is only a polite name to denote the fact they have been caught in the middle and must make the best bargain they can make to save their own skins. They are seeking security, not neutrality.

Any stuff captured in Korea should be looked over for World War II material marked "Lend Lease." It was in the deal with Russia that all this should be returned.

History is full of politicians who were ready for war. But here's a funny thing: None of them was elected by the people.

Korean Reds

By PETER EDSON

They're Little Known In West

WASHINGTON—THERE PROBABLY never was a war in which the leaders on one side—the guys who started it—were as little known as are the North Korean puppet rulers and generals of today. Communist China has its Mao Tse-tung, Indo-China its Ho Chi-Minh, but North Korea has only unknowns.

In real control of the situation are the head men of some 3000 to 4000 Russian "advisers." They were left behind in North Korea when the Russian occupation forces ostensibly withdrew last December. Who these real bosses are, who furnishes the brains and who does the generaling, nobody knows outside of Moscow and North Korea itself.

The day after the North Korean attack began, Pyongyang radio gave one feeble clue. It announced the names of a seven-man military committee with absolute power to rule the Democratic Peoples' Republic of North Korea.

There are three concealed belly laughs in this. It isn't a republic and it isn't democratic if the committee of seven has absolute power. And the absolute power is held by the Ruskie masters who tell the stooges what to do anyway.

Intelligence reports do yield some surprising information on the seven. Most of them are revolutionists and political exiles with long prison records. Some were educated in Japan, some in China's Whampoa military academy. A few are Moscow-trained professional commies.

KIM IL SUNG—the last names are given first—is chairman of the committee of seven and ostensible premier of North Korea, but that isn't his real name. The original Kim Il Sung was a guerrilla leader of Korea, believed to have been killed in Manchuria. The Russians took the present whoever-he-was, gave him Kim's name and tried to build him up as a national hero. He has been decorated by Stalin for World War II services.

One of three vice-premiers and minister of foreign affairs is Pak Huen Yung. He was an active commie organizer in Korea from 1920 to 1925. He was graduated from the Lenin Institute, Moscow, in 1930, entered the underground and was at one time held prisoner by the Japs. In 1945 he was secretary-general of the Communist Party of South Korea. But when an order was given for his arrest, he fled to North Korea.

Marshal Choe Yongyun is minister of national defense and titular commander-in-chief of the North Korean armies. He is a graduate of China's Whampoa Military Academy, and a veteran of the Communists' famous Eighth Route Army.

Choe was exiled from Korea in 1925. During the war he was identified as commander of the Chinese Communist Volunteer Corps in Yenan. He returned to Korea with the Russians in 1945, becoming chairman of a so-called Democratic party, which he converted into a Communist front. Then he became director of public safety.

THE SECOND vice-premier is Kim Chaek, who is also minister of industry. He is known to have joined the Communist Party in 1926 to have been graduated from Moscow's Communist university. He was imprisoned by the Japanese in Seoul in 1927. He is a top commie, and he substitutes for Kim Il Sung whenever the premier is absent. The two Kims are, however, no relation. The family name Kim is as common in Korea as Smith is in English.

Kim Il Sung is related to the third vice-premier, Hong Myong-hin, having married his daughter. Hong is a curious misfit in the North Korean ruling clique. He is over 60, a Japanese-educated scholar versed in the Chinese classics. He published a newspaper and taught in Chosen Christian College in Seoul before the war.

Hong got into politics in 1946 after the liberation as a moderate leftist in South Korea. Two years later he joined other moderates in opposition to South Korea's United Nations elections and to President Syngman Rhee.

Chong Chuntaek is chairman of North Korea's planning committee. He is about 40, an industrial expert educated by the Japs in Seoul's higher technical school during their occupation of Korea.

Pak Ilu is listed as minister of internal security in the North Korean cabinet. He has a 20-year record as a Communist, and was leader in the anti-Japanese resistance movement in the 1930's. He fled from Korea to Yenan in 1941 and has close links to the Chinese Communist movement, in which he organized the Korean Revolutionary party and army. His main job now is head of secret police.

Time For Nonsense

By TRUMAN TWILL

THERE were times during World War II when this column felt like apologizing for its existence. There didn't seem to be room for anything but casualty lists, exhortations by government spokesmen and long-winded pieces by experts on the whiteness of whatness at the fighting fronts, behind the lines, on the home scene and everywhere else.

There will be times during the newest war, the one now developing the necessary momentum of bitterness, when the same misgivings will beset this small department of unimportant affairs. But this time they will be easier to deal with. Because World War II taught its survivors something not all of them would have learned otherwise.

It taught them that in wartime as in peacetime no one can be expected to keep his mind on the main subject forever. There must be a distraction occasionally to spell off the weary warrior lest he collapse from fatigue. That provides an excuse for all kinds of things which otherwise would be inexcusable. And it provides a justification of a sort for a small department like this dealing with unimportant affairs.

During World War II, clippings of this column bobbed up in curious places. According to reliable reports, they were read in military hospital wards in East Indian islands, by soldiers bivouacked on the desert sands in Libya, by G.I.'s existing miserably in the muck and slush of Belgium and by Americans in all the places where Americans bobbed up during that worldwide fracas.

This is recalled not so much in pride as in humility, because it meant that those who sent the clippings to their friends and loved ones in remote places were

Promoted Fast

THE parkway around Haines Point, in Washington, was recently rechristened "Ohio Drive." Big idea was to give the Buckeye state its rightful representation by having a District of Columbia avenue named after it. Ohio was the only one of the 48 states not so honored, but now Ohioans visiting the capital can find and drive on "their" street, with its fine view of the Potomac.

Honor guest at the Ohio Drive dedication was Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman. Sen. Robert A. Taft was there, too, and quite a list of Ohio notables. In a slip of the tongue, Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins referred to Mr. Chapman as "Secretary of Agriculture."

The Hand Of Fate

Die Is Cast; U. S. Stands Ready

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—UNDERLYING optimism is developing about Korea but concurrently there is a pessimism about the prospect that history may be witnessing the true beginning of World War III.

Even if the tide does turn in Korea in the next few days or weeks, the Congress and the executive branch of the government have had a real scare.

The preparation now is for any contingency that may arise. Congress is ready to vote whatever funds may be necessary. President Truman has ordered the National Security Council to meet once a week instead of fortnightly. He has told the joint chiefs of staff that they may come directly to him individually or in a group whenever they wish without going through intermediate civilian agencies.

Plainly Mr. Truman is taking over as commander-in-chief, which is as it should be. Whatever criticisms there may be of Mr. Truman's political slant on public policies, the fact is that where the nation's safety is concerned and where the facts are made directly available to him on national defense, his judgment, based on horse sense rather than technical knowledge, is likely to be sound. Where differences of opinion develop, he is most likely to be fair if he has access to all sides.

THE JOB OF preparing for large-scale war and at the same time avoiding any step that could be regarded as provocative by the free nations of the world is a delicate and difficult one. Advice is coming in from all sides to the President, including advice from party leaders and party opponents in Congress.

Obviously the Korean outbreak has already had a salutary effect. It has revealed that a conventional form of defense has to be built and that push-button warfare with all its gadgets, is not so immediately needed as tanks and infantrymen, cruisers and destroyers and aircraft carriers and perhaps even battleships with their big guns to bombard coastlines, to say nothing of more of the old-type bombers and fighting planes.

But just as it was a mistake to make plans to rely solely on strategic bombing so would it be a grave error to swing now to the other extreme and discount the power of strategic bombing. When the full story of Korea becomes available, it will be found that the bombers did plenty of damage to communications and supply depots in the north. It will be learned that the flyers in the medium and heavy bombers risked their lives to do something they were never trained to do—low-level bombing and strafing—and they did it well.

WHAT IS happening in Korea as reported in the hour-by-hour dispatches does not reveal the over-all strategy. Americans have been fighting a delaying action, and their retreats and zigzags were anticipated. The fighting will be touch-and-go for days yet, but eventually the American supply line will be built up for advance at a time when the strategic bombing in the North will prevent the enemy from moving reinforcements rapidly.

The big question now is: Why doesn't Russia send in her own reinforcements? Will she feed them in gradually? Or has she decided already that to do so means a large-scale war eventually and perhaps a lot of death and destruction which will negate the propaganda she has been spreading about the alleged desires of the United Nations countries to make war?

The feeling in Washington is this: If Russia wants World War III to start now, America, though not as prepared as she would like to be, is nevertheless ready for the challenge. The atomic bombs are ready. America has announced her intention of using that weapon and any others she has in store. If it's to be war, there will be no holds barred.

Maybe it's just as well for the Russians to know that the Korean aggression has stirred the American government and the people almost as much as did the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Whether mediation or peace moves come, America will not be the same as it was before the Communists marched across the 38th parallel in Korea. The die has been cast for a period of armed vigilance—and the resolution now is to take no chances but to mobilize and stand guard. (N.Y. Herald Tribune Syndicate)

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Vitamins Won't Darken Human Hair

THE first question today deals with a problem which is all too common.

Q—My friend takes vitamins for gray hair and they are making her hair black. Are these safe to take and must one keep on taking them for a long time?

Miss J. A—Unfortunately vitamins are not of help in making gray hair darken in human beings. There is one which alters the color of the hair in some animals but does not do the same thing to men or women. The experience which you recount is therefore most unusual and the treatment cannot be recommended generally.

Q—I have a friend who has a young girl with a condition known as "blue sclera." She has had many fractures and recently has become very hard of hearing. Please tell me something of this condition.

M. D. A—Neither cause nor cure of this condition is known. It follows a hereditary pattern and therefore runs in some families.

Q—What causes the skin of some people to turn black when it comes in contact with a gold ring?

J. F. W. A—This is supposed to come from a combination of an alloy present in most gold jewelry which combines with sulphur in the skin and produces a chemical compound causing the dark discoloration. It has been suggested that this can be prevented by painting the inner surface of the ring with a colorless nail polish or flexible collodion.

Q—What causes the occasional swelling of one or both ankles especially of those who seem to be in excellent health?

Mrs. H. J. C. A—Most common causes for swollen ankles are trouble with the heart or the kidneys or varicose veins. A tight garter or something interfering with the return flow of blood from the legs might cause occasional swellings as described.

Classics

By HAL BOYLE

Some People Like Them

NEW YORK—RARELY does the sun set on a day in which no one picks a list of the ten most something or other.

If it isn't the ten canaries with the most beautiful tonalities, it's the ten American literary wags—drivers with the handiwork biographies. Or maybe the ten Hollywood swan song girls it would be most fun to dance in a barrel of molasses.

Most of the lists are about as nonsensical as that. The Columbia University press recently came up with a list, however, that touches the memories of every American who grew up in the pre-television era. This was in the days when practically everybody could read—or at last they pretended to. As the quaint phrase of that time put it: "There's nothing I really like better than to curl up with a good book."

The Columbia University list named the ten classics "that have bored the most people the most." They polled 200 teachers, bookshelves, editors and librarians. In case you missed them elsewhere, here they are:

1. Bunyan's "The Pilgrim's Progress."
2. Melville's "Moby Dick."
3. Milton's "Paradise Lost."
4. Spenser's "The Faerie Queene."
5. Boswell's "The Life of Samuel Johnson."
6. Richardson's "Pamela."
7. Eliot's "Silas Marner."
8. Scott's "Ivanhoe."
9. Cervantes' "Don Quixote."
10. Goethe's "Faust."

WHAT FASCINATES ME about this list is that it contains a high percentage of books which many high school and college students are required to groan their way through. If people who make a living out of reading find these classics boring, why inflict them by force on helpless adolescents?

And what interests me further in the list is that I never read a single one of the books myself. I have dipped into a few of them; I still have a few in my library. But I never managed to wade all the way through any, including "Ivanhoe." I was a "Lorna Doone" man myself at the time most young people read "Ivanhoe."

I suppose I should feel ashamed and ignorant, but I really only feel lucky—lucky I escaped the boredom that befell the distinguished jury that made up the list of ten.

For there is no particular reason to read a book just because past scholars have called it a classic. As Mark Twain said, "A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read."

BOOKS, like clothing should be tailored to your individual needs. Fashions change as do any other styles. Today I don't see any more reason for a high school girl to be required to read "Silas Marner" than to be required to wear her grandmother's bustle.

Real classics are those which play a real role in your life—which ventilate your mind, or give you a new insight into the world. No generation can live by a previous generation's classics. You sample what went before and take unto yourself the part you find useful.

But it is pointless to try to force young people to try to swallow whole great chunks of the past. That is why young people still know the Ten Commandments—but you have to club them into reading "Pilgrim's Progress." The Commandments were set down in a crisp way.

- The unfortunate injury to Ted Williams in the All-Star game will do no good for the Red Sox' pennant chances.
- Although the Sox have made such brave statements as "the rest of us will have to fight harder," there is no denying they will miss the Splinters' big bat.
- Off to a slow start, Williams' batting has been on the upbeat for the past month. His average climbed to .321.
- For the first half of the year he batted in 83 runs, a huge total. Knock 83 runs off the last half of the season for the Red Sox and they'll lose a lot of ball games.
- With Williams sidelined for the last half of the season, it's hard to see how Boston can overtake the Tigers, or anyone else.
- Their terrific one-two punch, including Vern Stephens, has been cut in half, making it easier for a pitcher to get through the middle of that batting order.
- Of course, there is always the chance the Sox will really go to work with their star hurt and play over their heads. Something on that order happened to the Yankees last year, during their injury epidemic.
- Boston, however, hasn't shown the fortitude for such an inspired spurt. If they had it, they'd have waited to the last two pennants.
- Stout Steve O'Neill had enough on his mind, trying to figure why Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder weren't winning games. Now he has really got a headache.
- One writer speculated as to what would happen if the arm injury put a permanent hitch in Ted's powerful swing. He thought Williams would simply quit the game forever.
- With a rumored $125,000 yearly salary at stake, it's hard to imagine anyone retiring simply because his efficiency was slightly impaired.
- Williams would probably do it, though. He's the proud type and hitting a baseball properly is life's greatest joy.

Death Of Minors

By JACK CUDDY

FRANK J. Shaughnessy, president of the International League, predicted the "quick death" of minor-league baseball today unless the December major-league meetings at St. Petersburg, Fla., adopt the "50-mile restriction" for radio and television.

Even before December a half-dozen of the nation's 58 minor circuits will have folded because of the new unrestricted "airing" of major league games, declared the white-haired fiery-faced international head man.

He stressed that the half-dozen's fate would mark the first minor-league decrease since the war ended in 1945.

"We have petitioned commissioner Chandler and the major-league owners for relief," Shaughnessy said.

Legion Loses 6-3

In Tri-State Play

Committing six errors, the Salem Jr. Legion lost a 6-3 ball game to New Castle Friday evening in the East Palestine Tri-State tournament. They are still in the final round, which is a double loss elimination.

New Castle will play Girard Monday night, with Salem meeting the winner Wednesday.

Last night the locals gave New Castle six unearned runs and then lost on a four run rally in the top of the ninth.

Guller pitched for Salem, giving up eight bingles. Orlando, the New Castle flinger, set a tourney record, fanning 18 Salem batters. He allowed nine hits.

Salem plays at Cadiz in the district tournament today, meeting Cadiz back in Salem at 6 Monday night.

Lemon Gives N. Y. Only Three Hits

Tribe Ace Wins 13th Of Season

His Three Run Homer Climaxes 5-1 Contest

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland is coming strong with Bob Lemon, top pitcher in the majors, showing the way.

Good pitch, good hit. That's the story of Lemon, high man on the Tribe totem pole.

Success of the Indians' mid-summer pennant drive hinges on Rapid Robert, the second. No longer is Bobby Feller the key man with the Tribe.

When Lemon works, Manager Lou Boudreau feels he has 10 men on his side. The former infielder is an extra man on defense, one of the best fielding pitchers in the game. At bat, he's a dangerous long distance slugger with a .278 average, three home runs and 14 runs batted in.

Years ago they decided Lemon couldn't hit enough to make the majors as an infielder or outfielder. But Tommy Byrne will carry the bruises of the three-run homer he hit last night for the rest of the season. It was the 18th off the Yankee lefty.

Lemon became the first major league pitcher to win 13 games this season with a neat three-hit job against the New York Yankees last night. The three-run homer in the eighth was just an added frill. He didn't need it.

COMING AT the start of Cleveland's all-important third eastern trip, it was a vital 5-1 win for the Tribe. They trail Detroit by five games but now are only a half game behind the second place Yankees. Since the Indians hit their stride June 14, they have won 22 of 30. And Lemon has topped six of seven, the last five in a row.

Bob Feller goes to the mound today as the Indians try to overhaul New York. Feller, who has won eight and lost seven, will be opposed by New York's Ed Lopat, a jinx to the Indians. During his major league career, Lopat has beaten them 25 times while losing six. Three of the wins on his 10-5 record for this season were at the expense of Cleveland.

Detroit took advantage of the Yankee loss to stretch its lead to 4½ games over Freddie Hutchinson's 2-0 job against Washington. It was the Tigers' seventh straight win at Griffith stadium against a club they have trouble beating at home. Hutchinson allowed only one runner to reach third base and walked none in pitching his 10th victory.

The run-happy Boston Red Sox came up with their second 11-run inning of the season while overwhelming Chicago, 13-1. Ellis Kinder's five-hitter was his 13th straight over the White Sox and his seventh win.

St. Louis and Philadelphia remained in a last-place tie by splitting a twilight-night doubleheader. The Browns' reliever Clarence Marshall gave Philadelphia the first game, 3-2, when he walked Sam Chapman on a 3-2 count with the bases full in the ninth. Homers by Roy Sievers, Owen Friend and Don Lenhardt carried the Browns to a 5-2 second game win.

THE CARDINALS tightened the National League race, drawing within one game of Philadelphia with a 4-2 victory over the Phils. It may have been a costly win for St. Louis because Stan Musial left the game with a wrenched knee and pitcher Harry Brecheen retired with a sore left arm.

The Card attack ruined "Robin Roberts night" for the young Phil pitcher. Fans from his home town of Springfield, Ill., gave him a wrist watch before the game. Then the Cards gave him the works. It was the fourth loss to 10 wins for the All-Star game starter.

Erv Palica, a refugee from the Dodger bullpen, pitched his second straight five-hit win for Brooklyn to shut out Chicago, 1-0. Not a Cub reached second base until Andy Pafko doubled in the ninth. It was only the second start for 22-year-old Palica after 21 relief jobs.

Rookie catcher Del Crandall, getting a second chance because of Walker Cooper's ankle injury, drove in four runs with a homer and double in Boston's 6-4 edge over Cincinnati.

Ralph Kiner socked his 25th homer, a double and triple out his Pittsburgh club lost to New York, 7-5. The Giants scored all seven runs in the first inning to snap the Pirates' three-game win streak.

Lloyd Merriman, outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds who interrupted a football career at Stanford to sign a bonus contract, returned to his alma mater and earned a bachelor of science degree during the winter.

MUSCLE MAN—Husky Al Rosen uses the apparatus for exercise, but Cleveland's recruit third baseman is no dumb-bell slugging enemy pitching. He is battling for the American League home run championship, is among the loop's leaders in runs batted in and is sparking the Tribe's pennant drive.

The Hub, Deming Win AA Games

Sheen Tosses Almost Perfect No Hit Game

The Hub, riding in second place in the Class AA league, kept within two and a half games of Bliss by scoring their ninth win of the season over the Electric Furnace 5-0 Friday night at West End park.

Dave Ehrhart shut out the Furnace with three hits, while his team got seven off Marsh Sutherland.

gave Demings a scare before finally bowing 4-3. It was a tie ball game until the sixth when the Pumpmakers pushed over the deciding run.

Both Kenny Bruderly of Demings and Boone of the Sanitary twirled four hit ball.

Bill Sheen of Fisher News pitched a beautiful no hit game against Butler Grange, winning 5-0. He allowed only two men to reach base and only two balls were hit to the outfield. It was his second no hitter of the campaign.

In the second Class A tilt, Terminal Tavern marked up a 3-2 win over City Sporting Goods despite a one hitter by Miner. The Tavern team took advantage of misplays to get their three runs, as they were handcuffed at the plate.

Trial To Start Soon In Espionage Case
 PHILADELPHIA, July 15 — (AP)—Harry Gold, the 39-year-old Philadelphia chemist who admitted delivering America's atom bomb secrets to Russia's spies, goes on trial next Thursday on espionage charges.
 U. S. Attorney Gerald A. Gleeson said Gold will plead either guilty or no defense. The mild-mannered chemist, accused of passing atom secrets to convicted British scientist-spy Dr. Klaus Fuchs, has agreed not to fight the charges.
 Specifically, Gold is charged with violating the Federal Espionage Act and conducting himself "against the peace and dignity of the United States." Gold has been held in jail under $100,000 bond since his arrest May 23.

Two Writers Barred From Korean Front

TOKYO, July 15—(AP)—U.S. Army authorities today abruptly told Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert and United Press Correspondent Peter Kalischer that they could not return to the South Korean war front.

Lambert, wearing combat fatigues, was notified as he was about to board a bus at the start of a return trip to the war front in Korea. He had been here briefly on leave.

No explanation was given to him at the time. He was told merely that he could not make the trip.

Later Col. M. P. Echols, General MacArthur's public information officer, told the Associated Press bureau here that some of Lambert's dispatches had been objectionable because "they gave aid and comfort to the enemy."

He cited as an example a quotation from a frontline soldier that "this is a damned useless war." Echols was reminded soldiers on all fronts in World War II made similar comment. He agreed.

Colonel Echols said there was no question of security or no factual inaccuracies in Lambert's dispatches.

Lambert, whose dispatches have won wide play in newspapers all over the world, was threatened with expulsion from South Korea a few days ago.

Both Lambert and Kalischer have been in the frontline consistently.

Lambert, during World War II, was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. He served in the public information section and as such functioned some of the time as a military censor.

Kalischer was a soldier in the intelligence section.

Rep. Wetzel Will Head County Scout Drive

Rep. Clarence L. (Dutch) Wetzel again will serve as campaign chairman for the Columbiana Council of the Boy Scouts of America and will head the drive for funds for all localities outside community chest areas.

James A. Reany of East Liverpool, chairman of the scout finance committee, revealed Wetzel's acceptance of the chairmanship at a meeting to plan financial needs for 1951.

Wetzel also was chairman of the drive last year. The fund drive is to reach the 10 or 11 communities concerned with a brief but effective campaign.

Reany said a shortage in total income last year has not been made up and the council's camp McKinley is in real danger if the full budget is not received this year.

JAMES A. BARNES, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Barnes of R. D. 4, Salem has enlisted in the Air Corps and has been sent to a base at San Antonio, Texas.

A graduate of Goshen High School, he has been an employee of Owen's service station.

Auto Makers Busy With Plans For '51

DETROIT, July 15—(AP)—The auto industry right now has no armament work growing out of the Korean war.

It is ready to put all its industrial might into a war job if the occasion requires. But it first must know precisely what its various plants will be asked to build.

Until that time comes the car manufacturers are making no changes in their short-term or long-range planning. They are continuing their plans to maintain high level peacetime employment and proceeding with preparations for 1951 model car introductions later this year as originally scheduled.

Such are the replies of virtually every automobile maker to numerous inquiries as to what effect the Asiatic situation may have on their peacetime production programs.

Ohio Suspect Kills 2 Chicago Detectives

CHICAGO, July 15—(AP)—A young Negro, wounded and armed with a .38 caliber revolver, was captured by police yesterday and admitted slaying two veteran city detectives in a gun fight.

Police trapped the youth, Bernie Davis, 21, in a closet of a third floor flat four hours after the gun battle with the detectives in his west side flat.

The two detectives, Edward T. Crowley, 43, and Donald E. McCormick, 39, members of the robbery detail, each were shot three times. They died shortly after they were brought to the Cook County hospital.

The detectives had gone to Davis' home to question him in connection with a $500 robbery of a loan office in Weirton, W. Va., last Wednesday.

Woman Awarded $1,000 By Caring For Cats

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 15—(AP)—Mrs. Iva Le Beck earned $1 an hour for two hours a day by caring for the 23 cats, 11 turtles and one dog of her neighbor, a court ruled.

Mrs. Le Beck sued the estate of Mrs. Lily Dillon for $9629, contending she was on call 24 hours a day ministering to the pets, doing housework and running errands for Mrs. Dillon until the latter's death in 1944. The court granted her $1,000 yesterday.

Racial Prejudice Fighters Will Wed

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Anne Mather, 30, Boston and Cleveland socialite, will become the bride today of Franke Curle

Montero, 40, director of the Urban League fund, a New York organization devoted to improving the living conditions of Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

Montero listed his color as "brown" when making application for the wedding license. The New York Daily News said in a copyrighted story that the couple became acquainted through "their common interest in combatting racial discrimination."

Born in Brooklyn, Montero was graduated from Howard University in Washington, D. C., and studied social welfare work at Columbia. He became associated with the Urban League in 1943 and is director of its fund raising campaign.

Miss Mather's parents moved to Boston from Cleveland in 1937. She is enrolled in the graduate school at Columbia.

Akron Dance Hall Destroyed By Fire

AKRON, July 15—(AP)—Flames today destroyed the 30-year-old Summit Beach dance hall here.

Fire Chief Frank Vernetzky estimated damage at $100,000. Beach manager Evan Brewster said it would cost $200,000 to replace the 126 by 350 foot structure at the end of Summit Lake.

Brewster, who claimed the hall was the "world's largest," said it accommodated 3,000 persons. He said it would be replaced by the "world's largest" picnic hall.

Truman

Truman will decide in the next few days precisely what line of action he will take.

He is then expected to make his first full-dress announcements on the Korean issue and its repercussions in Europe and Asia. These are likely to come in the form of a message to Congress and a radio report to the nation explaining his policies and giving his estimates of the situation in which the United States now finds itself.

Informed officials estimated today that the United States has every intention of seeing the fight through—even if the worst happens and its forces are unable to hold even a beachhead in southern Korea.

Whether Gen. MacArthur succeeds in building in Korea, or whether he has to venture the country, military and diplomatic authorities foresee a need to prepare for a major effort in such manpower and material.

On the diplomatic front, there appears to be no real hope of any early developments which would bring the struggle to an end.

British talks with the Russians—as they are reported here—have thus far failed to do much more than keep the door open to further contacts.

Arms Speedup Seen

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—The New York Times said today the United States, spurred by the Korean war, will speed up rearmament among the North Atlantic treaty nations.

To boost its own share and to help its allies, the Times said, the U. S. expects to call up certain national guard and reserve units and mobilize part of American industry for arms production.

The decision to speed rearmament was understood to have been approved by President Truman after it was recommended by the National Security Council.

The Times said that by the end of the month the U. S. will have an exact plan to offer a meeting of the North Atlantic Council in London July 25.
